To the grader,

This is to inform you, the grader, of our thought process behind what we did. First of all, you are probably wondering why we chose to do a Final Fantasy web site. Well, we both really enjoy that series, and being the nerds that we are, we thought we should make a web site dedicated to one of our most beloved gaming series. In terms of the style of the site, we looked at many gaming sites, including the Square Enix site, to find out what common elements each had and if we could somehow incorporate it into our site. We found that a title page was very common, with a logo that in some way said "Enter here." So we made one. Another thing we noticed is that most websites themselves are simple, so we decided to make the title page somewhat flashy and the main site simpler. One last thing we noticed was that on the Square Enix site, they had cool buttons for each of the games, so we copied the idea and made our own buttons. The point of the site was to have information on the different games, so each page helped that purpose. They each described an essential component of the games. In terms of overall style, we decided to go with a very clean layout, with a top nav bar, a nice banner, and centered content.

Sincerely,
        Cuong Lai and Anel Korajkic
